

The Practical Guide to Limited Company Structures

Phil Riches
Sales Director

Learning Points:

- ✓ Different types of limited company structures and how these can be utilised by landlords.
- ✓ How lenders in the specialist market can lend on different types of structures.
- ✓ Examples of different corporate structures through case studies.

Limited Company Applications

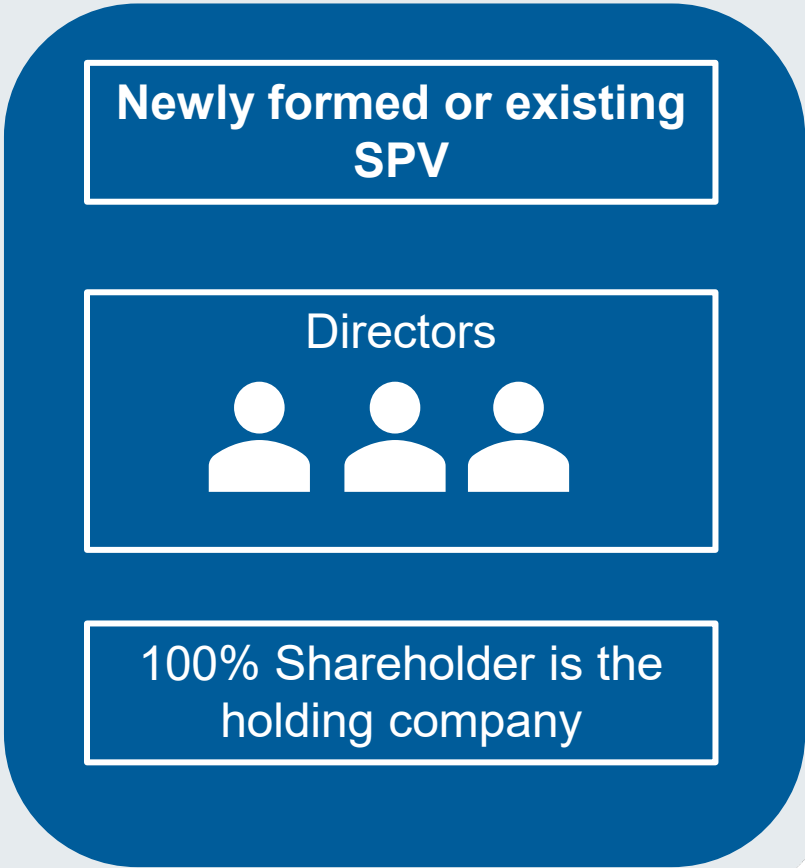

Company Type

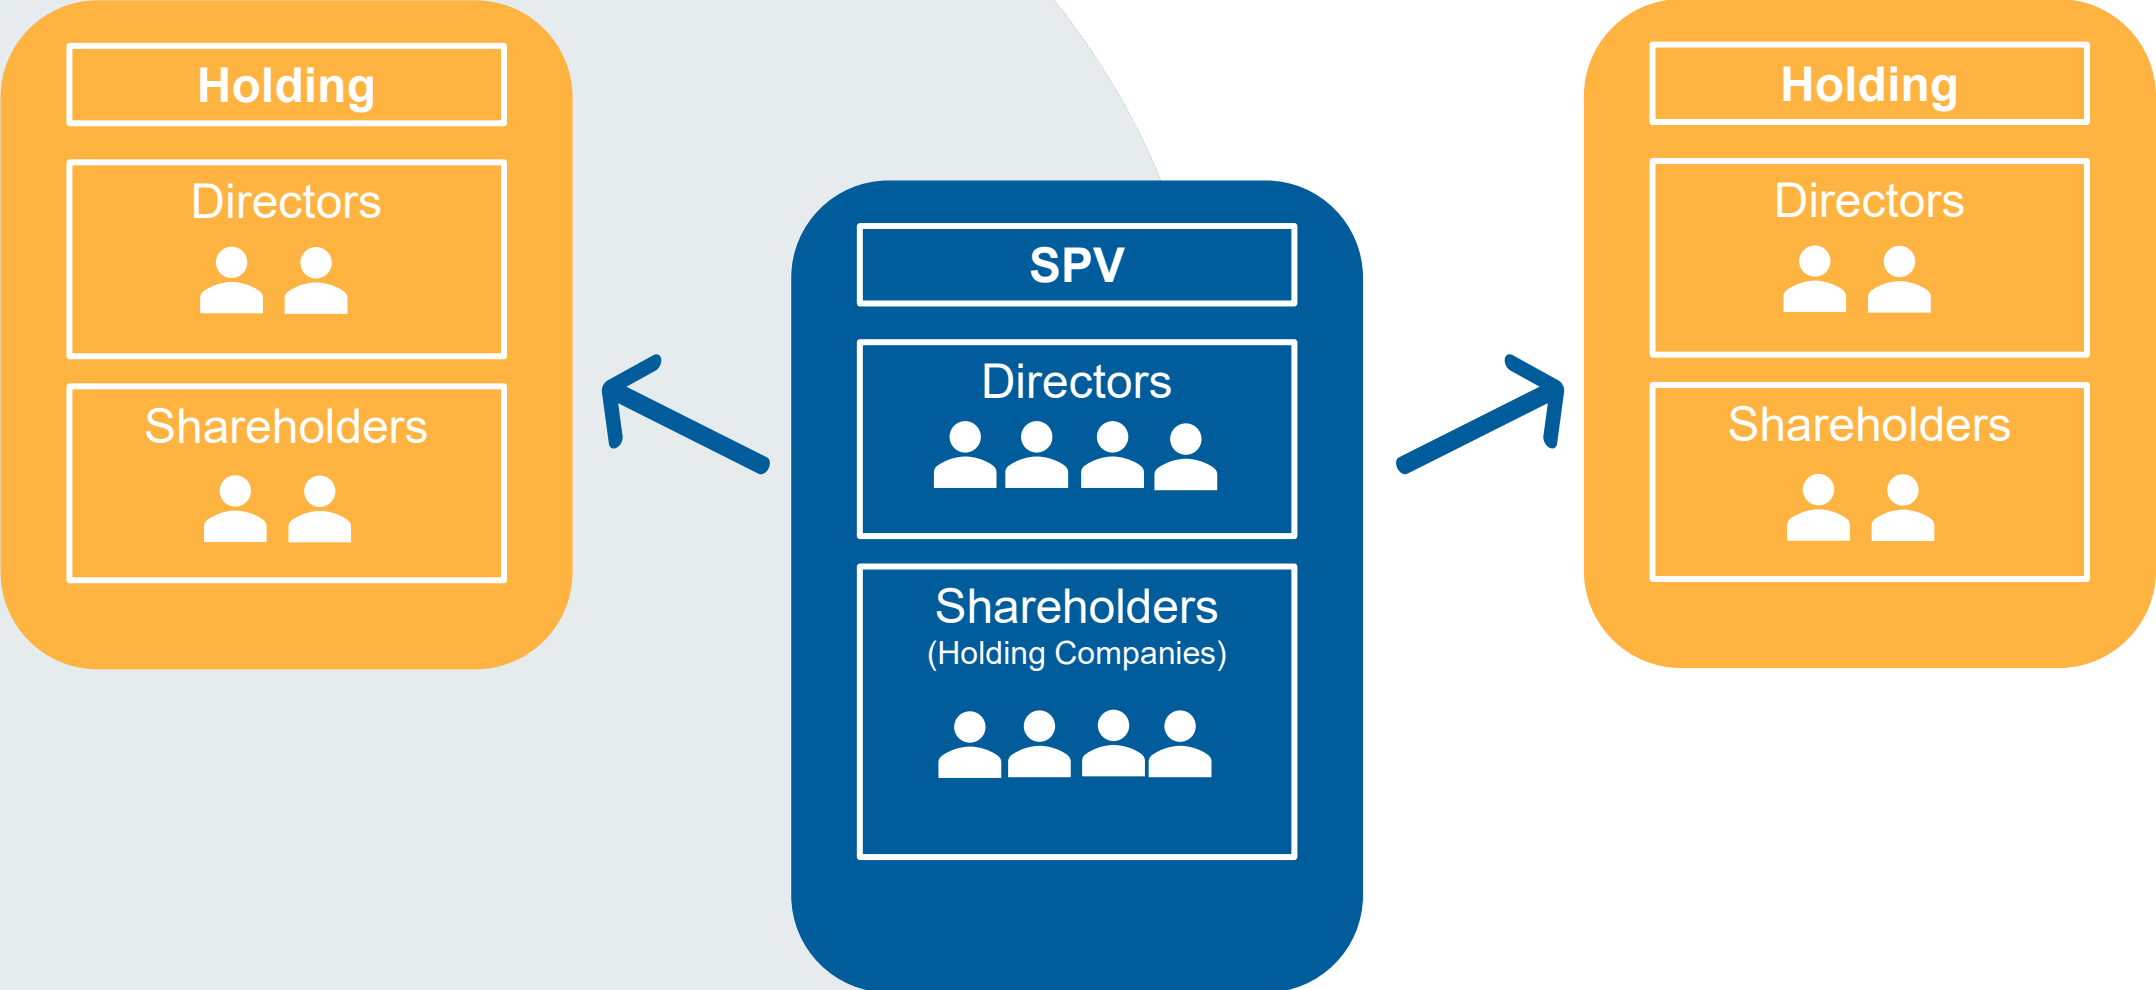

- ✓ SPV Limited Companies - existing or newly created – SIC Codes 68100-68209-68320
- ✓ Trading Limited Companies
- ✓ LLPs
- ✓ Subsidiary SPV Limited Companies - these are companies whose shares are owned by another Limited Company, otherwise known as a Group structure

Standard Corporate Structures

Complex Corporate Structures

Directors

✓ No maximum age limit because we are lending to a corporate entity

✓ Personal guarantees for the amount of the loan are required from ALL directors

✓ Independent legal advice to be sought by ALL directors

✓ Directors must meet the standard eligibility criteria in terms of having BTL experience or being a first-time landlord

Shareholders

- ✓ Not required on application
- ✓ No personal Guarantee is required
- ✓ Shareholder consent form is required when shareholding is over 20%
- ✓ Shareholders below 20% are not taken into account for lending purposes

Deposit Types

- ✓ Inter-company loans are acceptable
- ✓ Use of shareholder funds, retained profits or director's loans are all acceptable
- ✓ Shareholder funds on incorporation

ICRs & Net Lending

125% for Limited Companies and basic rate taxpayers

145% for higher rate taxpayers

Other lenders calculate the loan requested and the completion fee within the DSCR which has an effect of reducing the loan

At KPF, the loan is calculated against the rental income excluding the completion fee to maximise borrowing

Limited Company Checklist

- ✓ Is the company Trading or an SPV?
- ✓ Check companies house to confirm SIC codes
- ✓ How many directors are there?
- ✓ How many shareholders does the company have?
Do any of them have over 20% shareholding?
- ✓ Is the client a director of other limited companies?
